ABOUT MENZIES:

Menzies is a national leader in research and education that improves health outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and populations across our region. As a leader in global and tropical research into life-threatening illnesses, Menzies continues to translate its research into effective partnerships and programs in communities across Australia and the Asia-Pacific region.

SUMMARY OF POSITION:

Menzies provides training and support in research practice to staff coming into research roles for the first time. This role is within the Deadly Ears in Deadly Hands research team working to provide high quality, respectful, culturally sensitive clinical assessments, participant recruitment and other research activities. Research activities include obtaining informed consent, in-depth ear examinations, talking to and providing health education to children and their families at Royal Darwin Hospital and arranging follow up visits at home or community health services. This position is based in Darwin, but there is the possibility of travel to remote communities via light aircraft and/or 4WD for up to three (3) days per trip, and up to two (2) trips per year.

PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES:

The following responsibilities are not exhaustive and may include others as directed by the Supervisor:

1. Responsible for clinical assessments, recruitment and health education and support of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander child participants in hospital, and their families, including medical records review, data collection and entry.
2. Conduct clinical assessments and recommendations and liaise with Royal Darwin Hospital staff and community-based health centres to ensure that the ear health management plans are actioned in collaboration with treating medical teams and that the study complies with Royal Darwin Hospital and other relevant policies, procedures, and guidelines.
3. Contact tracing of study participants, and coordinate and conduct participant follow-up visits at home or rural/remote communities.
4. Works within the Aboriginal Health Practitioner scope of practice and ensures clinical assessments, data collection and other research activities are carried out according to evidence-based practice, legislative and regulatory requirements and Menzies' policies, procedures and guidelines.
5. Build strong productive relationships with people from diverse cultures and a wide range of stakeholders.
6. Foster a positive workplace culture through exemplary leadership practices and role modelling behaviour.
7. Provide support to other research studies as required.
8. Perform the primary responsibilities of the role in compliance with Good Clinical Practice (GCP) Guidelines (training provided by Menzies), relevant Workplace Health and Safety and Equal Opportunity principles and legislation.
9. Carry out any other tasks as reasonably required by the Supervisor, Business Manager and/or Menzies Director.

SELECTION CRITERIA:

Essential:

1. Current registration as an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Practitioner with the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Practice Board of Australia.
2. Demonstrated clinical experience working in maternal, paediatric or child health in either a hospital or health service and experience working with and knowledge of health issues affecting First Nations Australians.
3. Demonstrated verbal and written communication and interpersonal skills to communicate and contribute effectively as part of a multidisciplinary team.
4. Demonstrated initiative, problem solving and strong work ethic with the capacity to assess and establish priorities, manage competing deadlines and work independently with limited supervision under broad direction.
5. Demonstrated ability to maintain confidentiality of data, personal and sensitive information, exercise diplomacy and discretion when dealing with sensitive and confidential matters.
6. Sound computer literacy skills in Microsoft Office Suite.

Desirable:

1. Research experience and/or relevant work experience involving evidence-based medicine and clinical trials.
2. Understanding of, or ability to acquire understanding of, the ethical standards, data protection laws, patient safety regulations and legislative, regulatory and compliance requirements relating to clinical research with First Nations people including but not limited to in accordance with Good Clinical Practice (GCP) Guidelines.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS:

This is a female identified role. An applicant's gender is a genuine occupational requirement of this position, authorised by s35 of the Anti-Discrimination Act 1992 (NT) and Division 4 (s30, ss1 & ss2a,c,g,e,& h) of the Sex Discrimination Act 1984.

This position will only be open to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander applicants.
